Apollo 12 Comes Home

ABOARD USS HORNET — The Apollo 12 crew splashed down in the South Pacific yesterday to end America's second moon-landing mission.

"We're all OK," flight commander Charles Conrad radioed when he, Alan L. Bean and Richard F. Gordon ended their 24-hour, million-mile journey with a perfect descent.

Court-Martial Set

WASHINGTON — An Army lieutenant was ordered yesterday to face a court-martial on charges of premeditated murder last year of 109 South Vietnamese villagers.

Lt. William L. Calley Jr., 26, of Waynesville, N.C., will receive a minimum penalty of life imprisonment if convicted, a Pentagon spokesman said.

Demos' Senate Pick

CHICAGO — Democratic Party state leaders yesterday huddled to choose their candidate for next year's U.S. Senate race.

State Treasurer Adlai E. Stevenson III was the expected choice, but opposition to his candidacy by the party's reform wing led to a decision for open debate.

Nuclear Ban Pact OK

WASHINGTON — The United States and the Soviet Union formally ratified the nuclear nonproliferation treaty yesterday, a pact that forbids transfer of nuclear weapons, materials or manufacturing information between nuclear powers and non-nuclear nations.

President Nixon expressed hope that 19 other countries would follow suit quickly to bring to 43, including the United States, Britain and the Soviet Union, the number of signatories required to put the treaty into effect.

Tax Bill Debated

WASHINGTON — The Senate opened debate on the most comprehensive tax-reform bill in U.S. history yesterday and promptly voted to exempt small oilmen from the effects of the bill's cut in the controversial oil depletion allowance.

The reform bill would cut everyone's taxes by at least 5 per cent and impose $7 billion in new taxes on the wealthy and on corporations.

8 Yanks Wounded

SAIGON — Officials yesterday reported eight Americans wounded in a clash that marked the first use of U.S. ground forces in support of Saigon's counteroffensive against North Vietnamese troops near the Cambodian frontier.

U.S. headquarters said the casualties were suffered Sunday by a unit of the 4th Infantry Division in 15 minutes of fighting against North Vietnamese about 175 miles northeast of Saigon. Communiques yesterday did not mention any new action in the area.

Democratic Optimism Remains

Democrats were optimistic yesterday about chances for a victory in today's balloting for 13th District congressman.

Earliest results are expected at about 7 tonight. Polls for the special congressional election close at 6 p.m.

On the paper ballot are Democrat Edward Warman, 43, a Skokie attorney and three-term state representative, and Winnetka Republican Philip Crane, 39, an author and lecturer.

The man who emerges the victor late today will succeed former Congressman Donald Rumsfeld, who left Congress to head the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity.

"We're all OK," flight commander Charles Conrad radioed when he, Alan L.

Bean and Richard F. Gordon ended their 24-hour, million-mile journey with a perfect descent.

Warman has said during the campaign that his views are more in the mainstream of the moderate Republican 13th District than the far-right views of Crane.

In the eight-man Republican primary Oct. 7, Crane won by 2,000 votes over his nearest opponent, but captured only 21 per cent of the Republican vote. With more than twice as many registered Republicans as Democrats in the district, Warman will need a massive Republican crossover vote to put him in office.

Rumsfeld was given a plurality of 116,727 votes in his last congressional election in 1966. The plurality was larger than the total Democratic vote.

"I THINK we're going to take it," Peter Gerling, Palatine Township Democratic committeeman, said yesterday. "We've been talking to a lot of people and I think we have a fighting chance."

Gerling said he is counting on a heavy Republican crossover vote. He said if Warman can break even in Palatine Township, the Democrats will be successful.

Palatine Township is a conservative stronghold. The Palatine Township Republican Organization was the only party organization to endorse Crane for the GOP primary.

James McCabe, Wheeling Township Democratic committeeman, also said the Democrats have an excellent chance of winning the congressional election.

BERNARD PEDERSEN, Palatine Township GOP committeeman, was equally optimistic that Crane will be the new congressman.

"The feedback from my people is that there is nothing to worry about," the committeeman said about the possibility of Republicans voting Democratic.

"We don't think Warman is in the mainstream of the district," he said, adding that he thinks Warman is too liberal to represent district opinion.

The 13th District covers Wheeling, Palatine, Elk Grove, Schaumburg, Northfield, Niles, Evanston and New Trier townships. The Oct. 7 primary saw about a 10 per cent voter turnout, turning up 78,683 Republican votes and 6,565 Democratic votes.

Warman was unopposed on the Democratic ticket, whereas Crane had seven opponents, including perennial candidate Lar "America First" Daly.

The congressman elected today will serve out Rumsfeld's unexpired term, but must run for reelection in March and November regular 1970 elections.

LINEUP OF ELK GROVE VILLAGE firemen prepared for inspection Saturday at the station at 666 Landmeier Road. Occasion was the annual clothing inspection and department picture. Following the morning's activities the department opened the new west side station at 499 Biesterfeld Rd. where an engine is being kept in a bay of the park district garage. Nine men have been assigned to the station.

Fire Protection Hike Eyed

The cost of fire protection for 129 homeowners in Branigan's Forest View subdivision in Elk Grove Township may go up $61 a year.

At a meeting with representatives of the Forest View Homeowners Association last week.

In addition to recommending the $8,000 increase in the cost of fire protection, the committee will recommend that the contract with the homeowners not be renewed after one year ending in March, 1971.

Wesley Kentzel, president of the homeowners association, said recently, "It is quite obvious they are forcing us into annexation."

About 500 persons live in the subdivision, which is surrounded by the village but not within its corporate limits.

The subdivision is bounded roughly by Woodview and Ridge avenues, Landmeier Road, and Laurel Street.

RICHARD McGRENERA, village trustee and chairman of the judiciary, planning and zoning committee, said recently he would make the recommendation to the board after a meeting with representatives of the Forest View Homeowners Association last week.

In addition to recommending the $8,000 increase in the cost of fire protection, the committee will recommend that the contract with the homeowners not be renewed after one year ending in March, 1971.

Wesley Kentzel, president of the homeowners association, said recently, "It is quite obvious they are forcing us into annexation."

The village and the homeowners have discussed annexation in the past, however, and the homeowners did not approve although Kentzel did.

Kentzel had been reported as willing to annex only if 90 per cent of the homeowners agree.

KENTZEL SAID HE will confer with the association's attorney to see what alternatives there are to meeting the village's price.

The $11,000 figure was reached as a result of a study of fire protection by Fire Chief Allen Hulett.

Hulett determined that the village spends that amount on fire protection and ambulance service for the subdivision.

Kentzel, at an earlier meeting, said Hulelt's figures were determined by what the village spends on fire protection and not by what each homeowner pays for fire protection.

The cost of what a homeowner pays is less than what the village spends on fire protection per household, according to Kentzel.

Weirdo Quotient Should Be Tested

by JUDY COVELLI

Part-time writer, disciplinarian, counselor, and full-time educator, Richard

Calisch of Elk Grove High School spoke out this month on the topic of quality teachers in the November issue of "Today's Education."

Calisch, division head of English and fine arts, and instructor at the high school for four years, is not only enthusiastic about his English and fine arts department, he's enthusiastic about his profession.

And that feeling, coupled with a search for new staff, apparently is what prompted his article, "So You Want To Be a Real Teacher?"

"I THINK this profession is too important for those who aren't serious about it and for those who aren't good at it," he said.

It's this philosophy that permeates his thought-provoking article; must reading for anyone who's considered analyzing his own abilities as a teacher.

The qualifications that Calisch sets are tough to meet. He said they are his ideal, but also said that teachers he knows meet these standards.

"All my examples came from teachers here that I know," he said, "like the teacher who stood up and sang in front of his class with a wastebasket over his head."

Calisch was referring to the part of his article which told teachers to test their "weirdo quotient."

"Every good teacher has in him the confidence and self-reliance to be a weirdo. The classroom is a stage and the teacher is the player. Think back to your own teachers. From which did you learn the most?

"Certainly not from the sit-behind-the-

Allege 2 Firms Tied to Syndicate

by BARRY SIGALE

Two companies in Elk Grove have been alleged by the Illinois Crime Investigating Commission as having crime syndicate ties. Charles Siragusa, commission president, said yesterday.

Siragusa alleged that the owners of the two companies, Shak-Ur-Corn Inc., 2451 American Lane, and International Fiber Glass Inc., 340 W. Bennett, have been affiliated with members of the crime syndicate.

The statement is part of a continuing investigation by Siragusa's office into businesses and industry in the suburbs that are allegedly run by the crime syndicate or have dealings or relationships with crime syndicate figures.

THE COMMISSION is holding hearings this week into the activities of the two companies and will hear testimony today from Sgt. Raymond Marinel, head of the Investigators Division of the Elk Grove police department, and Charles Willis, village manager.

Marinel said records show Joseph Motyka as president of Shak-Ur-Corn Inc., and Daniel Siebert as president of International Fiber Glas Inc.

Willis is also scheduled to answer questions relating to the two companies at the hearing which is set to begin at 1 p.m. in Chicago.

HE SAID ALL INFORMATION gathered has been turned over to the crime commission and that the hearings will go into more detailed descriptions of the matter. He said his department's surveillance was aided by the Chicago police department and the crime commission.

"What the commission hopes to accomplish by such hearings," Jenkins said, "is to find out if crimes are being committed and to suggest new legislation to meet these problems. The crime commission will gather information and go before the state legislature."

ONE OF THE CHANGES is legislation which Jenkins believes is necessary in one which gives municipalities the power to withhold licenses from companies it feels have syndicate ties.

"This permissive legislation is necessary to enable municipalities to pass licensing requirements. They would be able to go down the list of owners and officers of a company and take away their permit if they have crime syndicate affiliations."
